MTB Pleasurable circuit on the sunny plateau of Bleggio

Leave the starting point in Ponte Arche and ride along the Duina stream in a southerly direction, through a short stretch of forest until you reach the sunny Bleggio plateau. You now cross a varied series of meadows, apple orchards, vineyards and cornfields, passing through picturesque villages as you go. Shortly after Santa Croce there's an option of shortening the route by a good distance by riding to Vergonzo via Duvredo. But it's much nicer to visit the village of Rango, and from there to take the gravel tracks up into the woods at the foot of San Martino. A stop at Monumento alla Santa Croce is definitely worthwhile. From there you can enjoy a magnificent view of the entire Comano area. On the descent you pass the foot of the castle ruins of Restor. Just before arriving back to Ponte Arche, there's a short, easy trail to climb.
