MTB A perfect MTB tour for children.

This circuit isn't just fun for children of course. It's short and doesn't have too much climbing, but what it does have is scenic beauty, which is sufficient motivation for many adults. Start by passing the old town on the way up to the Arboreto di Arco, then take the road on the right towards Laghel. Ascend through the olive groves, bordered on either side by imposing rock faces. After just under 2.5 km you pass the church of Santa Maria di Laghel, the end of the stations of the cross that lead up from Arco. From there you have to climb about 100 metres before transitioning to gravel paths and enjoying an engrossing descent down into Valle del Sarca, which you reach near Ponte Romano, a beautiful old bridge near Ceniga. It's then a flat ride back along the river to the starting point in Arco.
