Perfect beginners tour without significant difficulties

From the starting point in Pieve, take the cycle path to Bezzecca then continue, still on tarmac, to Lenzumo. You then switch to gravel and cycle through meadows and woods to the far, untouched reaches of the valley. A short loop leads up a brief ascent into Val Sorda, before tackling the last part of the valley to Rifugio al Faggio, where you can admire all sorts of carved works of art in the forest. The trail is very varied: soft forest floors, gravel, some slightly rooty sections, all of which makes the ride really varied and fun. The route back to Pieve is partly on the same trails you came up on, but towards the end you stay on the eastern side of the valley, passing through the villages of Enguiso and Locca out to Pieve.
